

“One of the capital’s major autumn events, and it seems to get better and better”

Evening Standard

Festival Assistants – backstage and box office

The Wimbledon International Music Festival is looking for two full-time Festival Assistants to assist with its backstage and front-of-house operations during the month of November.

The Festival Assistant - backstage job will include all tasks necessary to the successful management of the backstage areas, stage management and artist hospitality during the festival period. This job involves some lifting and moving chairs, tables and instruments.

The Festival Assistant – box office job will include all tasks necessary to the successful management of the online and physical box office and customer service during the festival period.

We expect you to be reliable, flexible, quick thinking and a good problem solver. You must be willing to work on weekends and long hours if necessary, and be available full time during the festival period (7-29 November). You will also need to be available for pre-festival briefing (or training), meetings, venue visits and setups, as well as for a de-brief, breakdown and clear-out after the festival as necessary.

Experience in stage management/box office management respectively is a plus, otherwise you must be willing and able to learn and adapt quickly.

A job-share might be possible.

Fee: £1500

If interested please email your CV and a covering letter by 6 September to Orsi Torják, Festival Producer at orsi.torjak@wimbledonmusicfestival.co.uk. Also, don't hesitate to reach out with any questions.